About This Game

"As you blink the grogginess from your eyes, you remember what's happened and why you are here..."

Trapped within a forest of death, a white stag must find his way out before the hunter chasing him gains his prize.

The Hunt

That is....unless the forest kills him first.

It seems you didn't think your escape plan through when your ran into the forest of Diana.

Too bad.

Now everything, including your pursuer, is out for your blood.

Can you find the way out, or will you fall prey to the forest?

'The White Stag'. The most exalted prize of the forest. Only the greatest of hunters can hope to claim its head.

It's rather unfortunate to know that such a man is the one pursuing you.

But what is this? As you traverse the forest, a darker reality will be unveiled.

Blood-soaked liaisons, sorrow, hatred and lust all melded together in the life of your pursuer.

Could it be?

Is it even possible to think that the hunter may have deeper reasons for pursuing you aside from pride?

The Hunt was made in the RPG Maker VX Ace engine. It contains puzzles, chases, and multiple endings. Your choices throughout the game will not only determine what ending you'll get but will also change some of the dialogue and gameplay along the way.

{I wanted to include a hand-painted animation at one of the endings and promised to have it in the release. While I have kept true to my word, I could only include a small snippet of what I'd been planning and (as much as it shames me to admit), touched it up digitally. I sincerely want to show the full animation I'd been working on and will try to finish it in the future.}

Made in a similar vein to classic pixel games, The Hunt will not hold your hand. Your brain and eyes will be tested throughout the game so keep both sharp. The game is designed to allow the player to skip over large amounts of exploration and puzzles if they want to simply escape the forest. However, if you want to know what's going on, you will have to look carefully. It's easy to miss or simply gloss over important items, information, clues, and hints.

At the start of the game, you will be provided with the choice of displaying NOTES. NOTES in the game provide information that will make your progression easier. If you don't enable NOTES, you may encounter surprises, but it will allow you to have a more challenging and potentially more fun experience. Ultimately it depends on what you as the gamer would prefer, easy progression or immersive gameplay. Keep in mind that the NOTES for the most part will only provide information on how to escape. They will not provide a lot of information towards finding secret endings or information.

There are seven different endings. A spoiler free walkthrough is provided in the READ ME but...come on, that's no fun.

WARNING - SOME MATERIAL MAY BE INAPPROPRIATE FOR CHILDREN

While pixelated, this game does contain:

- Gruesome depictions of death and dismemberment
- Various mentions of sex, rape, torture, and murder
- Dark/depressing themes
- May display images containing non-sexualized nudity

The Hunt was originally a 2015 free indie game.
It's been rebuilt and published on Steam to support the developer.

Game will be released in English.

As he walks in, the PROTAGONIST notices that GREDEL JINX is already seated and playing with her phone. She hides it when she notices the PROTAGONIST walking towards her, and beckons for him to sit with her.

GREDEL JINX
I'm surprised you are up so early... It's not like you !

PROTAGONIST
I've got a mountain to climb today !

5.

GREDEL JINX
Yes... A mountain...

GREDEL JINX
Do you have all your equipment with you ?

PROTAGONIST
No... Going to borrow some from my mountain guide

GREDEL JINX
Oh... That's a shame...

Achievement Sim 2016

~10V10 Achievement Groups

. Quite a nice flight experience for VR beginners! Felt a bit disoriented during it (which is good in my opinion)!. its really good but they need to add america to the grand campaign. Get it on sale. Fun game even just against bots.. This game was so ♥♥♥♥ing bad.

This is actually surprisingly entertaining, if a bit difficult.. Game is dead.. it says here The Crew Season Pass is on my steam library but i dont have it there, how can i get this working since i already pay for it?. This game is actually quite good! Whenever it goes on sale for dirt cheap (pennies to a nickle I mean) then give this one a chance. All around it took me about 3-4 hours to complete. Overall there are some fun and interesting physics puzzles that require a good grasp of platforming. It's all cheap, clean, and has a really nice challenge to it at the end of the day.

Pick this one up, Ladies and Gents

Edited for grammatical fixes.. The game is true to the original, playable and quite pretty, but for this price, the user experience is very poor.

Sounds:

The background ambient sounds are as loud and clear as the interface sounds, so it often feels like the game is trying to tell you something, but it's just a background noise. Making this effect worse, the sounds play totally at random, which means the same sound will often play over and over again, which can only mean it's signalling something, but it's nothing. There's no option to turn off just the ambient sounds.

The game uses the same fanfare sound for completing a city, monastery or garden, and for getting an achievement. If you do several in one move, it plays that sound many times on top of each other, which is very jarring.

Achievements and points:

Achievements are awarded with a banner and fanfare music every time you complete the requirements each game, not just the first time, so you'll hear that sound a lot. At the end of the game, an achievement window pops of for each one you got, and each one you have to click to make it go away. This also means you don't know if you just unlocked a new achievement or not, so it becomes a meaningless nuisance.

Giving out points at the end of a game is tedious, and you can't skip through parts, only skip the whole thing. After that, it still takes its time revealing the final score table, column by column. Also, the flag showing player scores going up passes through the centre of the screen and often obscures the board and the number of points awarded for individual features.

Crashing:

The game crashes to desktop sometimes when you open the remaining tiles list. It does allow you to start the game again and rejoin -- even for online games -- so it's not fatal.

Outside the actual game:

There's all sorts of tabs and icons with no explanation as to what they are, even if you hover over them. Some you can make a "best guess" at, like a red tab with a hand and an "x" could be a list of blocked players, but others are not clear at all, like a helmet and head with arrows pointing at each other.

The online matchmaking interface shows a list of available games, including ones you're ineligible for due to low ranking or karma. It's only when you click "Join" that it tells you that you cannot play. After looking through the games and picking one, it's really annoying.

The method for blocking or adding people as friends is hidden, then non-intuitive even after you stumble across it. After you add someone to your friends list, there's nothing that shows you it worked. Also, if someone isn't in the chat window, you can't block or add them. I had a player abuse and taunt me through a game, but he wasn't in the chat window after, so there was nothing I could do.

Karma:

There is a karma system which is based at least in part on how often you quit games early. For some reason, this applies even if you resign using the big "Resign" button in the interface. How quickly one loses karma and how one can gain karma are not clear.
